EVIDENCE IN ROBBERY CASE IS CONFLICTING

Neighbors Disagree on Time George E. Long Left City For Gallipolis

Whether George E. Long, 25, is to be arraigned on the charge of having held up and robbed Alex Walter, N. Main-st. grocer, hinges upon evidence showing when Long and his family left this city and went to their new place of residence in Gallipolis, O.

The hold-up occurred at the Walter home about 7 o'clock the night of Friday, Jan. 7. Long claims that he went to Gallipolis the morning of that day and police investigating the case have information tending to show that he did not leave until Saturday, Jan. 8.

Evidence on this point is conflicting. Local authorities state. Neighbors on one side of the former Long home on N. Main-st. say that he and his family left town on Jan. 7 and neighbors on the other side declare that Jan. 8 is the correct date.

The record of railway tickets purchased by Long for the trip to Gallipolis may decide what action the authorities will take. It is shown that the tickets were used Friday, Jan. 7, before the time of the robbery, Long's release is regarded as certain.

Held in Jail
In the meantime Long is held at the County Jail facing robbery charges filed by Mr. Walter. He was arrested at his former home last Friday while he and his brother-in-law were packing furniture ostensibly for the purpose of shipping it to Gallipolis.

In case Long cannot establish an alibi, he will probably be arraigned in Municipal Court late today.

The robbery occurred at the Walter home, located near the grocery on N. Main-st., a short distance south of Crystal Lake Park. Mr. and Mrs. Walter were seated in their living room waiting for a customer who had planned to call for some groceries.

When a knock came at the door, Mr. Walter thought that it was the customer but instead found himself facing a holdup man who dashed a gun and demanded money that had been brought from the grocery. The robber had blackened his face to conceal his identity but Mr. and Mrs. Walter claim that he strongly resembled Long.

Refused to produce the money, Walter refused to pay the $40. but Mrs. Walter finally complied with the robber's demand, taking the money from his hiding place.

The robber disappeared after ordering the couple not to sound an alarm for five minutes. The following day Walter went to Municipal Court and had a warrant issued for Long, who could not be found by police until last Friday when he returned to get his household goods. The arrest was made by Sheriff James A. Deal and Deputy Vane Ireland.

Long, formerly employed as leader by local coal companies, is married and has two children. That family came here from Gallipolis several years ago.

HOWARD CHRISTMAN, 17, INJURED IN ACCIDENT
Sustains Broken Arm in Crash at State and Church-st; Car Damaged

Howard Christman, 17, who resides at Pleasant Acres, two miles south of the city on the Marion-Columbus-pk., has a broken arm and a badly wrecked Ford touring car as the result of an automobile collision which occurred about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the intersection of Church and State-sts.

The other machine, a Studebaker sedan owned and driven by a Gallipolis man, was also damaged but the Ford got much the worst of the argument. One of the running boards of the Studebaker was wrecked while the radiator and both fenders of the Ford were demolished.

Young Christman was the only person injured, his right arm being broken. He was taken to the office of Dr. A. A. Starnes for treatment.

Christman was driving west on Church-st. and the Gallipolis machine was going north on State. The crash occurred when both attempted to pass the crossing at the same time.

According to an account of the accident related by young Christman today, both drivers probably share the blame.

"It was about a tie, I guess," he stated.

"Young Fortune" Expended On Revue Coming to City

When Charles George produced his "Sensations of 1927," he spent a "young fortune" on costumes and scenery. This was revealed last night when a member of the staff of The Star, together with Manager Ed. Sharpless, of the Grand Theater, saw "Sensations of 1927" at Findlay.

"Sensations" will play a matinee and night engagement at the Grand Wednesday.

No less than half a dozen big scenes, embellished with dazzling scenic and electrical effects, are to be found in the revue. Among these is "The Land of Gold," with scenery of gold and costumes of gold and the finale showing a rain of gold coins and bills.

Charles George, the producer of the revue, is cast prominently, doing most of the singing, while Barbara Bronell, a diminutive and chic young person, justifies the "starring" position given her. Miss Bronell is a remarkably clever dancer. Ken Christy and Bessie Delmore inject the laughs into the 17 scenes of the revue.

A chorus of 11 girls displays a "End Oily, Sallow Skin"

A little Colomine powder sprinkled on a wet cloth and rubbed gently over the face each night ends shiny, oily skin—puts new life into sallow skin, and cleans the pores of all dust, dirt, and prevents blackheads. It makes the skin feel refreshed and bright, so you will enjoy a good night's rest.

Waited Long for This Discovery!

Clean Inside, and Pores Free from Any Taint

All the trick lavatories in the world can't tempt people who understand the properties of cascades.

A hundred different drugs will purge the bowels, but a little natural cascade purifies the system clear through, cleanses even the pores of your skin, renders perspiration so innocuous as to be much desired.

Your grandparents took "balls," and slowly washed away the mucous membrane with the waste. Mineral oils are better, but they leave the coating that your blood must then carry off through the pores. But when you cascade the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

Don't get in the habit of taking medicine for constipation—or even for auto-intoxication. If you have the habit, stop it. A candy cascade is a delight, full for in which to take cascades; children love them, and the taste tempts most grown-up to take "more." And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of depurators, even in warmer weather! Try a cascade tonight! All druggists, 10c & 25c.

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSIONS TO START FEB. 11

Tickets Good on Return Trains
Prior to Midnight,
Feb. 13

The first excursion of the year from Marion to Niagara Falls is booked for Friday, Feb. 11, on the Big Four, L. E. Nelson, local ticket agent, announced today.

The excursion to the Falls leaves Marion at 11:45, Friday night, arriving in Niagara at 8 o'clock, Saturday morning. Tickets will be good for return leaving Niagara Falls on all trains prior to midnight, Sunday, Feb. 13.

The excursion is being operated from Niagara to Niagara Falls, via Martion, to give the public an opportunity to witness the wondrous winter scenery of the falls. A few of the sights include the mammoth ice mounds at the base of the falls, reaching 60 to 100 feet in height, and the frozen spray laden trees and shrubbery on Goat Island. The scene is brilliantly illuminated at night.

This is the first excursion to be operated over any railroad through Marion for some time and it is thought that a large number will take advantage of the opportunity to see the sights.

New Song
Walter Goodwin, former Chicagoan and composer of "Back of the Yards," has turned out a new song featuring the Broadway Limited of the Pennsylvania Railroad, called "Travelin'". It is said that the Pennsy song is the result of a sudden inspiration after Goodwin had made a trip from Chicago to New York on the famous Pennsy Star. It has been adopted by Pennsylvania employees over the entire system and came to be in such demand that it has already run through several printings.

Repairing Tracks
Pennsylvania workers were busy residing near the W. Center-st crossing, repairing and rehabilitating tracks.

Rail Break
Yesterday was pay day for employees of the Erie. Agent G. R. Henner acted as paymaster at the local freight house.

R. N. Bedien, vice-president of the Hocking Valley and Chesapeake & Ohio Railroads, passed through Marion yesterday in his private car "Chicago."

W. L. Reller, engineer of maintenance of way on the Hocking Valley with offices in Columbus, was a visitor in Marion yesterday.

Lorain Drasharea of Ashland, Ky., spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Drasharea. Mr. Drasharea is cashier in the local Hocking Valley freight house.

CLIFFORD SCHWARTZ IS HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

Accused of Stealing Coal from Car on Railway Siding; Hearing Set

Clifford Schwartz, 33, of Barnhart-st., was arrested yesterday on an affidavit filed in Municipal Court charging him with being implicated in the theft of coal from a car on a railway siding near Barnhart-st. This was the second arrest in connection with the alleged theft. W. R. Smith, colored, also a resident of the Barnhart-st. neighborhood, having been taken into custody on the same charge last week.

Schwartz, it is reported by the police, escaped by hiding from the officers when they were summoned to the railway siding by a representative of J. D. Wise & Sons, the firm to which the coal had been consigned.

Schwartz pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Martin yesterday afternoon and his hearing was set for 4 o'clock today.

Smith pleaded guilty last week and was fined $5 and costs. He was taken to the County Jail in default of payment.

MOVE TO CLEAR SOUTHERN SOLDIERS

In an attempt to clear the names of Southern soldiers whose names appear in the War Department files on unsigned documents as deserters from the Confederate Army, Senator Claude Swanson and Representative R. W. Moore, both of Virginia, are introducing a bill directing the Secretary of War to bear evidence in the cases. Senator Swanson on the left.

JUDGE CHARLES JUSTICE COMPLETING OHIO TOUR
Making Official Lodge Visits
as President of State Elks' Association

Judge Charles L. Justice of this city, who is president of the Ohio Elks' Association, is completing a state-wide tour which began several weeks ago and included official visits to a large number of Elks' lodges.

Judge Justice began the tour several weeks ago following his retirement from the office of Common Pleas Judge here. On Feb. 9 he will begin his duties as a judge in the Third Ohio district Court of Appeals, the position to which he was elected last November by a plurality of 25,000.

The Marion Jurist has been honored at all of the Elks' meetings attended by him during the last few weeks with banquets and their special social feasts.

TWO NEW MEMBERS ARE INITIATED BY ROTARY

Fred E. Guthery Has Charge of Ceremony; Explains Purpose of Club

Rotary meeting Monday noon at Hotel Harding was given over to the initiation of two new members, Don A. Howard, of the Huber Manufacturing Co., and Roy D. Moore, publisher of The Marion Star. With the addition of these two men the club now has 61 members.

Fred E. Guthery was in charge of the initiation ceremony, and he outlined briefly the ideals of Rotary, told of its founding and growth and of its present standing, with nearly 2,000 clubs with 123,000 members in 37 countries. "Mutual understanding, not only of individual problems, between member and member, but common problems, between club and club, and country and country, forms the basis of Rotary strength," he said.

Mr. Guthery then explained the Rotary wheel, the emblem of the organization and named the spokes which stand for various ideals and ideas of Rotary. He called upon five members to speak upon each of the five subjects expressed in five of the spokes. The sixth spoke stands for the member's own part in the Rotary organization.

Rev. R. W. Smiley talked on the "acquaintance" spoke, Rev. Alfred W. Swan on the "friendship" spoke, J. D. Zachman on the "investment" spoke, V. C. Smith on the "dividends" spoke, and Horace Bollinger on the "service" spoke.

CASE SETTLED
The case of Fred Morehead, former Marion man arrested in Toledo about a week ago on the charge of having moved a mortgaged automobile to that city from Marion county, was settled yesterday in Municipal Court and Morehead was released. The charge resulting in his arrest was filed by Z. Stout, local auto dealer.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

Give your hair plenty of thick, healthy, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will cause your hair to ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to comb or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you may have. This simple remedy never fails.

men

THE more you demand of a pipe-tobacco, the more you will enjoy this prime favorite of experienced janny-pipers. Prince Albert commands a pipe to stand and deliver. Briar or corn-cob. Calabash or meerschaum. It doesn't matter. The tobacco's the thing!

Fling back the hinged lid on a tidy red tin of P. A. Breathe deeply of that rich, rare aroma, promise of a wonderful taste to come. Tamp a load flush with the briar and light up. Now you have it . . . that taste . . . that class-by-itself taste of Prince Albert!

Cool as Pike's Peak. Sweet and fragrant as a breeze through a greenhouse. Fragrant and mild . . . a mildness that lets you smoke pipe-load after pipe-load, with never a tongue-bite or a throat-parch. Yet with that full, rich body which you demand in a smoke.

Considered from any angle, Prince Albert is janny-pipe joy of the highest degree. Smoke it fast or smoke it slow. Smoke it after breakfast, right up to bedtime. It is always delightful, always friendly. If you don't know P. A., you don't know what your pipe can bring you.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, round and half-round tin tins, and found everywhere in its sponge-maturation cup. And always with every tin of P. A. and every tin served by the Prince Albert process.

PURCHASE PRICE NO TO AFFECT PHONE DISPUTE

Fred E. Guthery, President of Company, Says Rates Based on Appraisal Figures

The price paid by the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. for ownership and control of the Marion County Telephone Co. property will have no effect upon the controversy over local rate schedules now pending before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, according to a statement made today by Fred E. Guthery, president of the Marion County company.

In taking action upon the sale of any public property, the state commission invariably stipulates that the purchase price shall not be used as the basis for computing rates, and this provision is certain to be included when the local transaction is approved, Mr. Guthery says.

This statement was made by Mr.

Guthery today when interviewed in regard to an application which has been filed on behalf of the city asking that the state commission order a public hearing on the local telephone company sale. The application was filed last week by City Solicitor George T. Geran and former Solicitor Grant W. Mouser, Jr., who has been authorized by the City Council to act as special counsel in telephone and gas rate disputes.

Ask Hearing

The sale price of the local company, according to the statement made by Geran and Mouser, is represented by $1,000,000 in bonds, 25,000 shares of no par common stock and 2,500 shares of no par preferred stock. They ask that the commission, before approving the sale, set the date for a public hearing to ascertain whether the sale price represents the actual value of the telephone company.

If the application is granted, officers of the telephone company will be required to appear for cross examination by Geran and Mouser and also to submit authentic records and statements to show the actual value of the property.

To Avoid Disputes

These city officials have stated that they want to exercise this privilege in order that there may be no chance of the sale price, in case it is greater than the real property value, being used as the basis of future rate computations.

According to Mr. Guthery, however, there is no need of this precautionary procedure. Rates for service are based solely upon actual appraisal figures, he says.

Status of the controversy over local rate schedules, now pending before the commission, will remain unchanged, regardless of what action may be taken on the city's application for a hearing on the sale, Mr. Guthery predicts.

Awaiting Word

In the meantime, Geran and Mouser are awaiting word from the commission regarding their application to have the sale transaction reviewed. An announcement on whether the application will be granted or not is expected within a few days.

All details of the sale have been completed, only formal approval of the State Utilities Commission being required to wind up the transaction and transfer control to the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. Application for approval of the sale was filed with the commission on Jan. 24 and a few days later Geran and Mouser submitted their motion asking for a public hearing.

usently excludes Col. Frank L. Smith and Representative William S. Vane from its membership.

The clash may never be settled judicially, even though both Smith and Vane carry their fight into the courts, but the ultimate verdict undoubtedly will be rendered by America's court of last resort—the court of public opinion, as expressed at elections. This became certain when friends of both senatorial nominees declared they would carry their fight for vindication into senatorial campaigns in other states, if they are barred from the senate.

The question of excluding Smith probably will come before the senate for the second time within the next two weeks.

If the election committee drafts a report, when it meets tomorrow, urging the immediate seating of Smith, it will provide a new fight on the floor of the senate. All indications, however, point to the senate again denying the oath of office, although the majority may not be as great as before. The committee then will investigate the charges against him, before filing a final report, which may not reach the senate until before the March 4 adjournment.

The Christian Science Monitor tells us that "California is astonished to learn from published statistics that it is getting more wealth from its fish than its gold, and they are not golden either." "The fish?" We have assumed right along that the Golden Gate state's chief source of revenue were poor fish from other states.

The sunlight, it may be said, falls alike upon the front walks of the just and unjust, which is just as well for that about the only way those of the latter are ever freed from snow.

"White waistcoats," according to the edict of the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America, "have given way to black waistcoats for tuxedos," so we guess we may just as well put away our time-tried white waistcoat for another twelve or fifteen years. There's nothing like being right up to the minute in the matter of fashions.

There's one respect in which the man of decided opinions has it all over the majority of us; he's mighty seldom tied up by jury service.

Such was her maternal love, so a Nashville woman said, that she simply couldn't bear to leave her daughter, a bride of four months, so she shot and killed her and then took poison. To an unprejudiced person, it's bound to look as though this maternal love business is at times somewhat overdone.

The "smallness" of the $3,000,000 estate of the late Daniel G. Reid is still a matter of comment in New York City. Wouldn't that jar you? Why, we have known hard-working preachers of joy and sunshine in paragraphs to die and leave even smaller estates than that.

Stanley Baldwin says a premier's job is the loneliest in the world. But, then, Stanley may be mistaken. He has never been a president of a great republic.

It's little wonder that it takes Miss Jane Adams something like thirty times as long to dress as the average fapper. We don't know Jane personally, but from what we have heard of her she's not one to leave anything to chance, and it's not entirely unlikely that she still clings to a potticoat or two rather than run the risk of appearing in silhouette.

Should Be a Thing for Pride.

The United States shipping board has officially announced the rejection of all bids for the charter of the United States lines and the purchase of the American Merchant lines, the board holding that the bids submitted were inadequate. Just what is meant by inadequate is not known to us in this connection, but in the light of the recent statement of Chairman T. V. O'Connor, of the shipping board, that no offer would be acceptable to the board unless it appeared advantageous and at the same time assured the continuation under the United States flag of the same high-class service which has marked the operation of the two lines in the past, we can assume that there was doubt upon the part of the board as to one, or possibly both, of those points.

Four bids, it will be recalled by readers of these columns, were received by the board, all being from New York concerns. J. H. Winchester & Company, in association with Gibbs Brothers—the same Gibbs Brothers who reconditioned the Leviathan—offered $1,000 a month for the five ships of the United States lines, a total of $50,000 a year charter hire, with a guarantee to build two vessels of the Leviathan type for operation on the line at a cost of $30,000,000 each, two-thirds of the money to be borrowed from the shipping board.

W. F. Kenney and associates made an offer for this service that was indefinite and subject to negotiation.

Both bidders offered $200,000 a ship for purchase of the American Merchant line, aggregating $1,000,000.

As a result of the rejection of these bids, an end of all talk by the shipping board regarding the possible disposal of the United States lines, of which there has been so much in recent months, is anticipated, and there isn't the slightest indication that the board will soon again offer the ships of this line for charter. In fact, the announcement makes evident that the board intends to keep the United States lines under government operation for the present, at least, as it carries the statement that the America, the splendid 32,000-ton cabin liner which was partially destroyed by fire last spring, is to be reconditioned at once at a cost of $1,500,000 and restored to the service, and almost incidentally a Washington who announced that the shipping board planned to ask permission of congress for the construction of two new liners to run with the Leviathan in the New York-Cherbourg-Southampton service and then establish a weekly United States service between these three ports.

All friends of an American merchant marine will naturally hope that the desired congressional permission will be forthcoming, but whether or not it is there is satisfaction to be had that the America is soon to be restored to service. When she was put out of commission by fire the day before she was to have been turned over to the government for inspection following her reconditioning by a Newport News shipbuilding company a mighty gap was cut into the service of the United States lines. She was the largest cabin liner afloat and the third largest vessel of the fleet. But it was not so much her size, but rather the favor in which she was held by the sea-going public. As the America under the German flag was the dearest popular, but as the America under the United States flag she earned the reputation of being the most popular boat afloat. She was so steady, so reliable, her service was so fine, her officers were such favorites, her stewards alike so courteous and capable, that there was always demand for passage on her when many other vessels crossed with cabins but half filled. That she is soon to be back in commission will mean much to the United States lines, even if the new liners are not to be built, but they should be built to put our passenger line on a parity with any afloat. If the United States is to remain in the passenger shipping line, or if the line is operated under our flag by a private corporation, the service should be commensurate with our standing and importance among the nations of the earth, something in which every citizen of this country may justifiably take pride.

To be honest about the thing, the weather we have been having didn't surprise us greatly. We were apprehensive from the time the weather prophets began predicting an open winter.

One speaker before the National Board of Review conference in New York City said that motion pictures were made for the mentalities of twelve-year-olds. Any twelve-year-old should understand that all that is necessary to begin a damask proceeding is to secure the appointment of a guardian ad litem.

The Apologetic American.

[Grand Rapids Herald.]

Orr's cartoon yesterday morning in the Chicago Tribune was a bull's-eye. "Busy Times for the Apologetic American" it was dubbed.

This is more truth than poetry. When it comes to international relations many of our people seem to have an "inferiority complex." Whenever America does its wrongs, they seem to think that the only way to demonstrate "broadmindedness" is promptly to sympathize with the other country every time America joins an issue. They have left Decatur a thousand miles behind.

It is to be conceded that the blustering, bragging, bombastic native who struts upon foreign strands announcing belligerently, "I am an American!" is a liability, and not an asset. It is to be conceded that if the official policies of the United States were to clothe Uncle Sam in the library of an intolerant, imperialistic, swashbuckling bully it would be an insufferable travesty on the American soul. But the former individual is a freak, and the latter cartoon is a lie. Yet the "Apologetic American" invites the world to find truth in both.

In the humility that great power and responsibility should engender, yet in legitimate pride that the republic has achieved, income, parable greatness, it is still appropriate for the citizen of the United States to say "I am an American!" There is nothing in his history—past, present, or prospective—which need make him ashamed of his priceless heritage. His country has played a Samaritan's role all round the globe. Its beacons have burned for the advantage of all civilization. No "apologies" are needed. On the contrary, a little of the Decatur spirit—particularly a little of the Decatur spirit—would clarify the atmosphere and lead to less confusion and error in alien estimates. Not in treachery, but in truth, we seek a word for the United States!

INSTEAD OF MAKING NEW LAWS WHY NOT GIVE HIM A SHINY AXE AND HAVE HIM DO AWAY WITH SOME OF THE OLD LAWS?

Watch Baby for Ear Troubles.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

This is the season for measles and scarlet fever. It is not uncommon during an attack of one of these diseases or other acute illness in a child to have an involvement of the ear. All the infectious and contagious diseases are likely to be accompanied by more or less inflammation of the lining membrane of the nose. On this account the trouble may creep up the tube from the nose to the ear and produce inflammation in that organ.

Even though the attack of fever has been very mild and the little patient has been hardly sick at all, there may be serious trouble in the ear. The parent should be on the lookout for trouble, so as to report it to the doctor as early as possible.

Sometimes the child seems to be almost or quite well. All at once he becomes peevish, cross and irritable and the fever returns. There is extreme restlessness, the child tossing from side to side. Occasionally the suffering infant cries out suddenly or may continue to cry.

When there are paroxysms of crying with no apparent cause in a child who has been sick do not fail to examine the ear. Frequently it is found to be the seat of the trouble.

Examine the ear enough in an adult. If you ever had it you know how terrible it is. It seems as if a red-hot coal were being driven into the brain. If you suffered this way after you grew up, think of a little child having such a symptom. You can well understand why he cries out in agony.

Have you ever thought how near the ear is to the brain? Back of the ear and opening into the middle ear are honeycombed cavities in the bone. These cavities, known as the mastoid cells, are very near to the lining surface of the bone. Beating on this table of bone in the brain itself, separated from the mastoid cells by a layer of bone, sometimes no thicker than a sheet of paper.

If the nose and ear contains fluid teeming with pus-producing germs we have all the makings for serious trouble. The germs creep into the bone cells I have mentioned. Pus forms so rapidly that it can not drain away. In such a case the bony wall may be broken down and the brain itself is invaded in turn.

Bear in mind that you must not neglect baby's running ear, or anybody's running ear, for that matter. The ear is too close to the brain to be overlooked. All ear symptoms demand a consultation with your family doctor. He will advise as to what should be done.

Earache is such a common thing among children that we are apt to grow careless about it. It is unwise to disregard the warning. Do not neglect to give it the attention it deserves.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

E. H. Q.—What is the cause of ulcers on the eyes and how should they be treated?

A.—Mostly due to some infection. Have your eyes, teeth and tonsils examined and then definite treatment can be advised.

R. A. R. Q.—What causes my abdomen to itch so when I rub cold chills circulate through my body?

A.—This trouble may be due to pruritis accompanied by extreme nervousness. The diet should be corrected. For full details send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

D. R. Q.—Is it harmful to get vaseline? I have been eating it for constipation.

A.—It is better to clear up your trouble by proper dieting. Avoid foods unduly rich in fats and starches. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.—Copyright, 1927.

Some Questions of Interest Asked and Answered.

Q. Is it true that wood should be cut at a specific time of the year to make it more durable?

A. E. G.

A. Many of the theories which have been advanced regarding the durability of wood attribute too much importance to the time of cutting. As a matter of fact, the time of cutting has very little effect upon the durability of wood.

Q. What is proper to give parrots to keep them in good health?

A. A hard-boiled egg rubbed into a paste and mixed with an equal quantity of cracked corn and a teaspoonful of cayenne pepper may be relished by the bird. Skin diseases are usually caused by feeding meat or too rich or oily food. It is usually sufficient to change the food giving a plain diet and some vegetables and fresh fruit. Unless the bird is very young it should be supplied with moist food and water, as well as some salty food. A little sulphur in the food will help to purify the blood.

Q. How many bank presidents are there in the United States under the age of thirty?

A. Statistics compiled by the Bureau of the census do not include the years from fifteen to thirty, but are divided as follows: fifteen to nineteen, twenty to twenty-four, and twenty-five to thirty-four years of age. The number of bankers and bank officials between the ages

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Tiller and toiler—farmer, manufacturer, and merchant—add words of cheer for 1927. It looks like a good year. There are people enough to buy in this country and money enough to buy with. European markets are being restored. There are no paucity signs.

Followers of freak health ideas are often the first to break down. They lose their physical and nervous energy by first losing their mental balance. The average American college student has poor health because his idea of perfect condition is muscular development. Sensible exercise doesn't mean learning to run a mile in five minutes. Eating a few things to the exclusion of everything you like isn't the way to good, all-round health.

The most ignorant man is usually the most abusive. He seeks to cover his lack of knowledge with the smoke of violence. He is short on evidence and full of affirmations. He knows everything and can prove nothing. He is merely trying to slug his way into the class of the intelligent.

A few days hence and we shall be thinking of Lincoln's death. For his birthday is near. Take these words of Abraham Lincoln into your daily task tomorrow:

"I do the very best I know how—the very best I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything; if the end brings me out all wrong, let angels swear I was right would make no difference."

Aren't you getting anywhere? Be glad if you are keeping even. Says Alice Through the Looking Glass: "It takes all the running you can do to keep in the same place. If you want to get anywhere else, you must run at least twice as fast as that." It's hard to learn if you think you know a lot. Get over that idea first.

Dinner Stories.

The professor was trying to demonstrate a simple experiment in the generation of steam.

"What have I in my hand?" he asked.

"A tin can," came the answer.

"Very true. Is the can an animate or an inanimate object?"

"Inanimate."

"Exactly. Now can any one tell me how, with this can, it is possible to generate a surprising amount of speed and power almost beyond control?"

One student raised his hand.

"Well, Smith?"

"Tie it to a dog's tail."

Aunt Martha, aged eighty-four, and her niece moved to a new town. She just could not remember the name. Lusher, her next-door neighbor, said:

"Her niece said: 'Why, Aunt Martha, just think of luscious fruit, and that will suggest Lusher.'"

"Yes, that's so," replied Aunt Martha; and during the day she would repeat: "Luscious fruit, luscious fruit, Mr. Lusher. Now I've got it."

The next morning she met her neighbor, and said, very charmingly: "Good morning, Mr. Luscious."

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS.

One of the blindest things about kids is that they don't take after their parents very much. Not any more, than they can help, anyway. But the parents, of course, has got to have some big kick to pay them for boarding the kids, so they always imagine that the kids get their good points from them. And in some families there is great difference of opinion about where the kids get their meanness.

A visitor to a home that I've been told about was a high school principal. He talked to the little boy for a while, and found the kid was asking a lot of personal questions. He says to the mother:

"George has a great thirst for knowledge, hasn't he?"

"Well, I reckon he has," she says. "He gets thirst naturally from his pet, the meanness."

JOHN U. LEWIS.

John U. Lewis, labor leader and president of the United Mine Workers of America, was born in Lucas, Iowa, February 15, 1880.

He became legislative agent of the United Mine Workers in 1909. In 1911 he was appointed as a field agent of the American Federation of Labor, holding that position until 1917, when he assumed the vice presidency of the United Mine Workers. Lewis became national president of that organization in 1920.

He served on the coal production committee of the national council of defense in 1917, and as a member of the national unemployment conference in Washington in 1921. He also served as a member of the advisory committee of the limitation of armaments conference of 1921-22.

The new universal air-mail rates took effect today, with rates on all routes in the United States or Canada twenty cents lower a day.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. G. MINTAK.

New York, Feb. 1.—This has been a tough winter—cold, up to a long and cold, and the rigors. In the valedictory of 1926, Broadway he is becoming almost extinct. But what has puffed him to a contemptuous scorn among glimmers and waiters along the way, that is white.

In many haunts where his tuxedoed presence was once welcomed he gets an aloof "Sorry, no table tonight." The gigolo's job of being himself out to women for the evening has finally received a frown from the street that accepts almost anything.

There are hundreds of these humble-folk, pomaded fops who in a post-war madcap manner, lived rather extravagantly in the debasing manner. The gigolo danced attendance upon foolish women for so much an hour while practicing sly blackmail on the side.

Many of those sordid apartment-house level robberies have been traced to his door. He boasted of conquests and was totally impervious to the glances of those who watched his female companion pay the check. He considered it quite smart.

A number of them were taken to Europe and swank watering places by lovely women of wealth. They were furnished sufficiently with funds to wear the smartest habiliments and stop at best hotels. In exchange they fawned upon and dined with those who paid them.

Dispersed by their sex, they retreated with the stable sneer and continued to intrude in the otherwise respectable gatherings. A few were Americans, but chiefly they were South American with sleek black hair and olivaceous complexions.

There was a lady swathed in furs who stood expectantly in the reception-room of a glittering cafe waiting for one whom she had paid in advance for the evening. After a two hours wait she said to the hostess: "Stand up to a gigolo! I wish I were fit to go home to my children!"

Here's Real Relief

in 34 to 48 Hours Pains Are Often Relieved and You Get Rest and Comfort Again

Torturing pains—the kind that pierce and burn and never seem to let up—that rob a man of his sleep—that make him just a bag of nerves and kill work out.

Those are the pains that dope and coal tar products can only partially relieve.

The safest and most efficient way to get rid of the persistent, nerve-racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenburh Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take these little dark green capsules as directed and in about 24 hours you should be able to notice that they have considerably reduced if not almost banished those nerve-torturing pains that have caused you so many sleepless nights. Continue for two or three days more or until you are satisfied with results.

It doesn't matter how long you may have suffered or whether your Neuritis is in the shoulder, arm, neck or legs, Allenburh Special Formula No. 2 should give you speedy relief. Bradley Drug Store or any good druggist will be glad to supply you.—Advt.

a paper read by Mrs. Wilbur Symes after which Mrs. J. Byron Hume discussed the subject of lyrics in an instructive paper which closed with the recitation of the poem, "To a Skylark." "Tree Fables" was the subject of a paper read by Mrs. D. H. Harvey.

Mrs. Karl W. Schell entertained with two delightful vocal numbers, "My Love Is a Fisherman" by Lillian Strickland and "The Owl" by John Wells. "The Tree" and "The Pretty Girl" the latter number from the opera "The Blue Bird" were the titles of two beautiful vocal selections sung by Mrs. W. Long. Mrs. Harry Williams played the piano accompaniments.

During a short business meeting it was decided to cooperate with the Federation of Women's Clubs in the planting of memorial trees near the Harding Memorial. Puts an End to Bunion Pains

No Need to Suffer Another Day Those Agonizing Torturing Pains

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to reduce inflamed, swollen toe joints and get them down to normal and that is to apply Moore's Emerald Oil night and morning.

Ask Henney & Cooper, Bradley's Drug Store or any first class druggist for an original (two-ounce) bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces lasts a long time and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded.

Special note: People who want to reduce swollen or corned toes should get a bottle of Emerald Oil at once. Applied night and morning as directed they will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and lances are reduced to normal.—Advt.

To End Severe Cough Quickly, Try This

For real results, this old home-made remedy has been tried. Easily prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous home-made remedy. The immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use strained honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent on cough medicine, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel that it is held fast to the throat, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will hold it in a pleasant thin out and disappear. A dry cough will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and reliable ingredients, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "one ounce of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Pinex for Coughs

Stop Those Frequent Colds!

Are you one who takes cold easily? Do your colds "hang on" through the winter?

This condition is due to a constant irritation of the mucous lining of the nose and throat. Rev. W. H. Howard Preaches Sermon on Obedience

"Noah's Obedience" was the subject of the sermon preached by Rev. W. H. Howard at a well-attended revival service last night at the First United Brethren Church of which he is pastor.

"Noah was a pattern of patience and obedience. His character showed the beauty of life when viewed in the light of the degenerate times in which he lived." Reverend Howard said in part. "We can go to destruction without starting but if we ever get to heaven we will have to start." he continued. "It is just as easy to start against God now as it was in the time of Noah. The great secret of our spiritual darkness is that we do not obligate ourselves. Noah worked for 120 years building the ark while his neighbors scoffed, but when the flood came Noah was saved and the disbelievers perished. The ark of God's covenant is now open and we will either enter or we will be rejected forever."

Special musical numbers were sung by the choir under the direction of L. K. Hill.

Reverend Howard will discuss "The Man of Many Trials" at the revival service tonight. The choir will give a special musical program.

City Schools To Present Physical Demonstration

The first demonstration of physical education in the grade schools of the city will be held in the Star Auditorium two nights next month. The program will be given Feb. 22 and 23.

Approximately 350 children will take part in this exhibition, which will be modeled after that given by the classes of Harding High School this year. At present there is no physical education program in the grade schools, but this exhibition will be a demonstration of what can be done in the grade schools.

Pupils have been selected from each building in the city to take part in the exhibition, which will be in charge of Miss Rachel McAfee, physical director at the High School. She is being assisted in training with the children in the grade schools, by Mrs. Mildred Jordanian, Miss Margaret Clappadie, Miss Isabel Unscaper and Miss Lenora Zook.

The program which will be given and the grades which will take part include: Singing games, first, second and third grades of Glenwood, Davids and N. Main-st. schools; calisthenics, sixth and seventh grades of Oakland school; Swedish gymnastics, seventh and eighth grades of Greenwood school; wand drill, fourth and fifth grades of N. State-st. and Mark-st. schools; dumb bell drill, fourth and fifth grades of N. State-st. and Mark-st. schools; dumb bell drill.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

"You are lying to me," she burst out. There was a moment of silence, after which she rose and walked away from the room. At the end of the hall, she turned, having mastered her fit of anger, and resumed her old expression of appeal.

"Listen," she said urgently, "I have already said that you are playing a dangerous game. It is worse than that. If you refuse to tell me the truth, the consequences will be terrible—not only for you but for me."

I was amazed at this new development, but suspected some further trick. "What do you mean?" I asked.

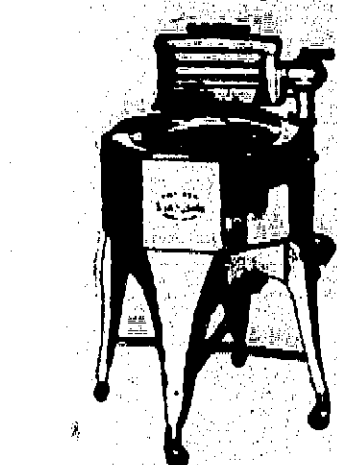

"The Center has instructed me to get this information. If I fail—"

She broke off trembling, and a sudden dread descended upon me. Could this be play acting? She stood before me with horror on her face, her small frame shaking with terror.

"You must tell me," she went on desperately, collecting all her efforts for a last appeal. "Why should you refuse? You say you are not a detective. You have no professional honor or interest at stake. Tell me where you have put the handkerchief. If you refuse—"

Again she broke off as though she shrank from completing the sentence. I was more moved by this time than I cared to acknowledge—alarmed to think that she might be in a serious danger, and at the same time quietly glad to find her suddenly killed, as it were, with me. I was prompted to explore the nature of her conspiracy with the Center.

"Tell me," I urged, "What are you doing with these people anyway?"

"That is my affair," she replied; "you have no right to my confidence since you refuse to give me your own."

I rose impatiently. It was an impasse, and I could see no way out for either of us.

"You may well be impatient," she said in reply to my sudden gesture. "Our time is almost up. They gave me twenty minutes in which to persuade you, and it seems that I have failed."

I made no answer to this, but stood in front of her, hopelessly puzzled and discouraged.

Suddenly she thrust forward her two hands.

"Robert?" she urged.

The appeal was so direct and apparent only so frank and impulsive that in a moment I was grasping the hands she offered.

"You will tell me, Robert—now, at once, before it is too late."

I looked down to avoid her entreaty. Heaven knows that in that moment I wanted to tell her, but I thought of Claypole and was resolved to say nothing of the handkerchief till the last extremity.

"I'm sorry," I said. "I can only repeat what I have already said."

"Do you know what they will do if you refuse?" She said in a low voice.

"I think it very unlikely that they will do anything at all."

"I will tell you what they will do," she said in a low voice. "You will be taken to the Black Room."

The voice altered. "It happened once before." And she shuddered uncontrollably.

"What do you mean?" I said bewildered. A sudden terror at my heart.

"They torture people in the Black Room," she answered.

"Torture?" I echoed stupidly.

"Yes, brutally, mercilessly."

"But who will dare to do this?"

"The man who dared to bring you here. He would do anything to get what he wants."

"The Center?"

She bent her head.

"But why should he do this?" I said bewildered. "It is incredible. I can't believe it."

"You have got to believe it," she urged. "You must believe it here and now and realize what it means. He will have you tortured and it will go on until you tell him what he wants to know or until—until—"

She broke off and her lips quivered. "I couldn't bear it," she whispered. "I couldn't bear to see you suffer."

Her distress, being all on my behalf, almost unmanned me. It was the first indication of any real feeling or sympathy she had shown. Moreover, it convinced me as nothing else could of my desperate situation. There was no mistaking her horror of the things that were done in the Black Room.

Presently she raised her head, as though listening for sounds outside, and at that moment the door opened, and Baldernore with the butler and four Japanese servants appeared.

They immediately springing at me, seized my hands, and a moment later, before I could do anything to prevent it, a pair of handcuffs clicked over my wrists.

Baldernore addressed himself to Patience.

"Has he confessed?" he asked.

She did not reply and he turned his crooked eye upon me.

"I have nothing to confess," I replied.

He made a sign to the two Japanese servants, who, taking me by the elbows, began urging me towards the door.

"Voyez," said the butler behind me.

And Baldernore, paying no further heed to Patience, who sank weeping upon a chair, led the way at once from the room.

We descended two flights of stairs and reached a large apartment on the ground floor. It was here, save for a table and a chair standing to the side of some heavy black velvet curtains which completely cut off one end. At the table was the Center. He looked up as we came in and moved his head slightly whereat Baldernore quitted the room.

"No, Mr. Querier," he said. "I tell you I find you. You strong man. Stand your ground, but Japanese torture forms soon make strong men very affable. Everything quite ready now. I give you small time to tell us, perhaps, where is handkerchief. Then we draw apart convenient curtains and begin."

I looked as he spoke towards the curtains. There was a faint whirring from behind them and, even as I turned to look, a thin yellow hand glided between the heavy folds, clutching the velvet as though making ready to draw them apart.

Half a minute elapsed, during which the dead silence of the room was broken only by the faint noise and rustle of invisible preparations.

"Now, Mr. Querier," said the little Japanese. "I give signal to show painful tableau. I strike gong and expose ingenious torture forms. Everything now quite correct and in best possible order."

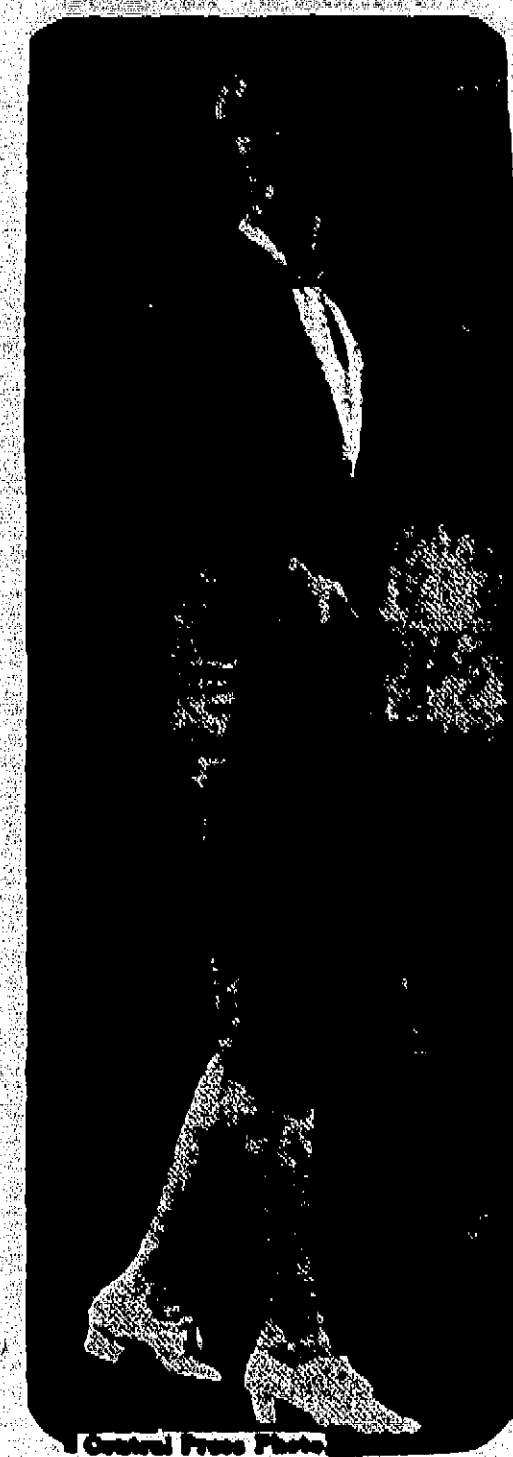

He raised the hammer of the gong to give the signal, but I was destined never to know exactly what horrors had been prepared for me behind the velvet curtain.

For at this moment there was a sudden interruption at the back of the room and, instinctively I turned my head. Baldernore was lumbering towards us, his face shining with excitement. In his hand was something white and solid with red specks on it.

"Mr. Center," he said, "it's all right. Here is the real handkerchief."

WATCH THAT COLD!

This Old-Fashioned Remedy Will Help You

THAT cold you have is caused by a microbe! A tiny insignificant germ, but so powerful that he is killed larger men than you!

Nature can handle him, if you give her a chance. He's not so terrible that you need be afraid of him—if you'll only let Nature deal with him. The trouble with so many folks is that they tie Nature's hands—don't give her a chance.

They steal her strength by letting their liver get sluggish and their stomachs get lazy. Then the cold microbes gets in his door and work—and Nature has an awful fight to win.

Give Nature a hand! Keep your stomach functioning properly. Take Dillingham's Plant Juice—Nature's own remedy for stomach disorders. Compounded of berries, plants, roots, bark and blossoms, Dillingham's Plant Juice is pleasant to take and it works in Nature's own way, and leaves her free to deal with cold and other microbes.

Mrs. Sophie Lee of 110 Jackson St., Newark, N. J., writes to us:

"I was in a run-down condition as I suffered from nervous indigestion a year ago. My nerves were upset, and I was unable to get my proper rest and sleep. I had no ambition, felt weak, and my housework seemed a burden to me. Then somebody told me how good Plant Juice was, and I tried it. Well, it was only a question of five bottles and a few weeks, and I felt like myself again. My stomach is in perfect condition and my nerves are calm and steady. My sleep is sound and refreshing. My housework comes easily as easy as now, and I never tire."

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

A Remedy

AT my mention of Noel Veritien's name Lillian sprang up from the side of the bed where she was sitting and began to walk up and down the floor, a sure sign that she was turning over some memory in her mind. When she finally wheeled and faced me there was distinct approval in her face and voice.

"If it will only work out," she said, "I think you've hit it. If she has to be interested in some young man at this stage of the game—and I suppose it is inevitable at sixteen—there couldn't be a lad more personable, honorable and attractive than Noel Veritien."

"You'll exhaust the adjectives in the dictionary," I said, with apparent lightness. The quip, however, was but the most desperate camouflage for the heartiness of heart which was mine for Dicky's young niece. If our only chance of saving her from the will of Jack Leslie lay in arousing her interest in some other youth I felt that we were, indeed, leaning upon a slender reed.

"We'll have to get busy on this thing right away," Lillian continued. "Of course, it's only an off chance at the best. If young Veritien is as hippped on the masked dancer as Dicky says he is he probably won't have any seeing eyes for Mary. And she may not even bat an eyebrow in his direction."

"There's the chance," I said slowly. "Mary is extremely high-spirited. There's no doubt about that. Dicky's remarks about Jack Leslie's being wildly enamored of the masked dancer may have piqued her pride, so that she will stop seeing him for a while, and perhaps be willing to play around with somebody else."

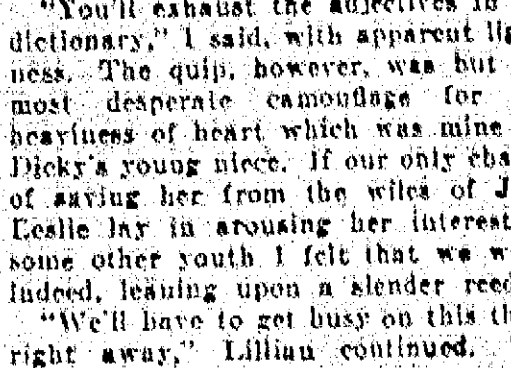

"It's an experiment distinctly worth trying," Lillian decided. "I'll confess I'm almost as much interested in it as Noel's account as I am in Mary's. He's too dear a boy to be eating his heart out for a mysterious masked dancer, who, ten to one, is already Jack Leslie's property. And Mary is certainly lovely and fascinating enough to make any young man sit up and take notice. What are you grinning at?"

Her abrupt query startled me, for I had not realized that my telltale face had betrayed the sudden amused thought which had struck me.

"I was just thinking," I stammered, "what Mr. Veritien's tale would look like if he could overbear our conversation of these last few minutes."

"It would look like a fried egg that had been turned sunny side down," she said, adding with a vicious little chuck of her teeth, "I'd like to alter his map of her teeth."

If it hadn't been for his iron-clad discipline, with his uncles like those of the old Earl, Mary wouldn't have had those effervescent spirits so bottled up that an explosion was inevitable. —Copyright, 1934, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

I looked as he spoke towards the curtains. There was a faint whirring from behind them and, even as I turned to look, a thin yellow hand glided between the heavy folds, clutching the velvet as though making ready to draw them apart.

Half a minute elapsed, during which the dead silence of the room was broken only by the faint noise and rustle of invisible preparations.

"Now, Mr. Querier," said the little Japanese. "I give signal to show painful tableau. I strike gong and expose ingenious torture forms. Everything now quite correct and in best possible order."

He raised the hammer of the gong to give the signal, but I was destined never to know exactly what horrors had been prepared for me behind the velvet curtain.

For at this moment there was a sudden interruption at the back of the room and, instinctively I turned my head. Baldernore was lumbering towards us, his face shining with excitement. In his hand was something white and solid with red specks on it.

"Mr. Center," he said, "it's all right. Here is the real handkerchief."

Presently she raised her head, as though listening for sounds outside, and at that moment the door opened, and Baldernore with the butler and four Japanese servants appeared.

They immediately springing at me, seized my hands, and a moment later, before I could do anything to prevent it, a pair of handcuffs clicked over my wrists.

Baldernore addressed himself to Patience.

"Has he confessed?" he asked.

She did not reply and he turned his crooked eye upon me.

"I have nothing to confess," I replied.

He made a sign to the two Japanese servants, who, taking me by the elbows, began urging me towards the door.

"Voyez," said the butler behind me.

And Baldernore, paying no further heed to Patience, who sank weeping upon a chair, led the way at once from the room.

We descended two flights of stairs and reached a large apartment on the ground floor. It was here, save for a table and a chair standing to the side of some heavy black velvet curtains which completely cut off one end. At the table was the Center. He looked up as we came in and moved his head slightly whereat Baldernore quitted the room.

"No, Mr. Querier," he said. "I tell you I find you. You strong man. Stand your ground, but Japanese torture forms soon make strong men very affable. Everything quite ready now. I give you small time to tell us, perhaps, where is handkerchief. Then we draw apart convenient curtains and begin."

I looked as he spoke towards the curtains. There was a faint whirring from behind them and, even as I turned to look, a thin yellow hand glided between the heavy folds, clutching the velvet as though making ready to draw them apart.

ROBERT HORNBY'S ownership of 1,167 shares of St. Louis Cardinals stock and President Sam Breadon's refusal to buy the stock at Hornby's price of $100 a share may force cancellation of the trade which sent the former Cardinals manager to the New York Giants in exchange for Frankie Frisch and Jimmy Dugan, Breadon has said.

"Hornby's stock entitles him to a place on the board. It is his right and I have no intention to deprive him of that right. It is a most unusual condition. I do not know how it will work out. The situation may be such that the trade with New York will have to be called off and we may have to play Hornby at second," says Breadon.

William F. Fuley, attorney for Hornby, thinks Hornby's stock, representing about one-tenth interest in the club, would be sufficient to elect him to the board at the stockholders' meeting today, although it could not be if all the minority stockholders were represented and voted against Hornby's reelection.

President Breadon, of the National League, shortly after the Hornby trade, said it "went without saying" that Hornby could not be a stockholder in the Cardinals club and play with the Giants.

TRIS SPEAKER has signed to play with the Washington Senators.

According to Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club, now in Tampa, Fla., the former Cleveland manager accepted Griffith's offer by long-distance telephone from New York.

The terms of the contract offered Speaker, who was cleared recently of charges of attempting to fix a baseball game, are not disclosed.

BRANCH RICKARD, business manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, was in Columbus Monday, enroute to St. Louis from New York, and conferred with Billy Southworth, manager of the St. Louis club. Both denied that Southworth's contract for next season was under discussion. Southworth, while not definitely classed as a "hold out" has retained a contract submitted to him, asking an increase in salary. Billy Southworth has not yet decided his intention of obtaining an increase, but declared no figure has been mentioned.

If Fidel LaRue adheres to his present intention to retire next fall, LaRue will lose one of the most popular and best players in the world. LaRue has been playing for the world's heavyweight champion, plans to enter Island Stanford University next September.

DUDLEY FIELD MALONE, New York attorney who has been handling the legal affairs of Gene Tunney and Gertrude Ederle, called for Europe, Tuesday, to arrange exhibitions. Tunney, in England, France and Germany this spring. He said he expected Tunney to begin the overseas tour in May.

Tex Rickard, the promoter under whose direction Tunney has agreed to defend his crown next September, expressed surprise. He said, however, that he did not believe such a trip would interfere with his plans, as long as Gene returned to this country no later than Aug. 1 to train for the championship.

MARION CAGERS TO PLAY CELTICS

A team composed of Baldy Compton, Francis W. Bacon, Dewey Boyer, Mel Shaw and Bob Shaw will meet the New York Celtics in a basketball clash at Springfield, O., tonight.

The Celtics have been arranged to give Springfield fans a chance to see the famous Celtic crew in action. The Celtics last night played the Columbus Engineers at Columbus and are at present touring the state.

Commercials Nose Out Railway Service Five

Step Into Second Place In Industrial League By Virtue of 16-14 Victory

C., D. & M. Again Narrowly Escapes Defeat When Fairfield Engineers Throw Scare by Tagging on Their Heels Until Last Minute; Hubers Defeat Business College

BY EDDIE SCHOENLEB
Sports Editor, The Star

Almost duplicating the feat accomplished early in the season, the Commercial Steel Castings Co. basketball team last night defeated the Railway Service quintet by a margin of two points and took undisputed possession of second place in the Marion Industrial Basketball League. The final score of the deciding fray was 16 to 14. In the first meeting of the season the Commercials defeated the Servicemen 20 to 18.

Playing a great brand of basketball, Hubers, trailing 19 to 10 at the half last night came to life in the second half, performed wonders in the second five-minute overtime period, and defeated Marion Business College, 39 to 33.

Throwing another scare into the strong C., D. & M. basketball outfit, the Fairfield Engineers came within three points of knocking off the crew in the first game last night. A sudden spurt in the final minutes saved the day for the Electricians. They won 23 to 20.

Shakeup in League
The games last night brought about a severe shakeup in the league standing. As the Commercials stepped into second position with six victories and two defeats, the Railway Service dropped to third place with six wins and three defeats. Hubers, by defeating Marion Business College, not only pulled themselves out of the cellar but also slid into a tie for fifth position with the Fairfield Engineers. Both teams have suffered seven defeats.

The three industrial league games last night were the most thrilling and exciting of any league battles so far this season. It would be difficult to name which was the most exciting, but the most important tilt was without a doubt, the Railway Service-Commercial contest. Next in importance came the C., D. & M.-Engineer skirmish.

By defeating the Railway Service, the Commercials last night paved the way to a tie with the C., D. & M. for the league title. Should the Commercial and Railway Service both defeat the C., D. & M., a feat which is possible but hardly probable, Commercials will be topping the heap with the C., D. & M. leaders when the season closes.

First Half Tied
The first half of the important tilt last night ended in a 0 to 0 deadlock. A bucket by Rimmer, one by Tschannen, and a couple of free throws by Johnson accounted for the six points credited to the Railway Service outfit.

Two charity markers by Applegett, Penny's basket, and Yazel's field goal were the markers for Commercials. Had the Railway Service then connected with the majority of free throws awarded them in the first half they would have won the game. They made two out of a possible eight while Commercials made two out of four at attempt.

With five minutes to play, the score stood tied at the 11-point mark. A field goal by Penny gave the Commercials a two-point lead only to be overcome by Johnson, who connected for a neat bucket by dribbling through the entire opposing outfit and hooking the ball through the hoop from directly under the basket. A free throw by Penny and a charity marker by Tschannen evened up things at the 14-point notch. Then Gelsinger saved the day for the Commercial and sniped Waterloo for the Railway Service by making a pretty shot from the side of the court.

Plenty of Fouls
Fouls were plentiful and "Doc" King was not backward in calling them. K. O. Kunkler of the Service crew was placed on the bench for violation of the personal foul rule while practically every player had at least two fouls under his belt.

Fairfield Engineers, strengthened by the presence of Fisher at center, fought like demons last night to conquer the highly touted C., D. & M. quintet—and almost succeeded. Fetter and Yazel started the game at forward for C., D. & M., and while both are considered subs, looked pretty good in those positions. Each counted two field goals during the half. The score at half time found the Electricians leading 8 to 6.

A bucket by Lingo early in the second half tied up the score and from then on it was "everybody for himself." Fairfield displayed excellent teamwork and time after time threatened to forge into the lead. In fact, at one time they were leading 12 to 11 but they stayed planted there while Phillips made two baskets for the C., D. & M. The score was deadlocked at the 20-point degree late in the contest and a free throw by Phillips added to Minards' field goal won this game for the league leaders.

Collegians Lose
The Business College quintet, equipped with Wainford of Prospect and Cornwell of Green Camp, looked a sure winner until Shultz, the forward, had a hard fall and forced out of the contest. From that time on until the final whistle, the Collegians steadily lost ground. The accident occurred early in the second half while the Business College was leading the Hubers 21 to 10. Whether or not the accident had anything to do with the final margin, a five-minute overtime was played and the regular playing period was 28 to 28. At the end of the first overtime period it stood deadlocked at 33 points. In the final five minutes, two field goals by Shultz, one by Rimmer, a free throw by Bell, and another by Shultz settled the argument in favor of Hubers, 39 to 33.

Whiz Bangs Next to Oppose Dairies Here

One of Best Road Teams in Country Comes Here Thursday

Capt. Billy's Whiz Bangs, rated as one of the greatest teams on the road, will oppose the Italy Dairies here Thursday night. The game crew meets the Kenton Road Wednesday night.

The Whiz Bangs hail from Minnesota and are on the road all season, playing clubs in all parts of the country. Any road team is good and this one is an exceptionally fast outfit.

The Midlands will play the Bord's Furniture of LaRue in the preliminary. The Furniture have met defeat at the hands of the Midlands here once this season and are coming back with the intention of showing Marion fans that they can lick the Lunches. How far they will get depends on the Midlands.

Washington Senators Get Tris Speaker and Fans Wonder Just What is Wrong

New York, Feb. 1—Now that Tris Speaker has decided to "unsmooch" a lot of ball games for Washington D. C. the boys in the back room are wondering if the ink run out of Jake Ruppert's fountain pen or if Connie Mack's purchases of minor league stars depleted the treasury of the Philadelphia club.

The idea of Clark Griffith, who once gave an intimate friend two passes to a ball game, outbidding the tall taciturn of Bill Pennington and the heartless man of New York appears about as logical as Hornby kissing Breadon.

From all accounts, the dollars didn't cut such an important factor in the negotiations after all. Miller Huggins is understood to have offered a little more money to Spoke than Griffith, but made it play to the Gray Eagle that he would have to try for a position on the Yanks just as a freshman has to show all he has to win recognition from his high school coach.

Too Much Competition
With Tris, Condie and Moseley hitting on all six, there was some doubt that Spoke would be able to be a regular.

SPEAKER GOES TO WASHINGTON CLUB
The fact that Spoke signed with Washington will please the magnates who like their pennant races tight. They figure that Washington will now be a pennant contender along with the Yanks, Athletics and Indians. So, everybody should be happy.

And as to Cobb, he announced today that he would sign with the team that offers him the best financial inducements. Unlike Speaker, he evidently has no objections to picking up spitters in his pants.

CHRISTIANS AND REFORMS IN JUNIOR TITLE RACE

Continue Winning Streaks By Defeating Epworths and Baptists

Central Christians and First Reforms last night continued their week-end streak for the title in the Junior Sunday School Basketball League. Christians defeated Epworth M. E. 29 to 17 and First Reforms tackled the same score on the Baptists.

The Reforms have won five games and suffered no defeats while the Central Christians have been defeated only on one occasion. That defeat came at the hands of the Reforms. Rubi and Weber starred for Reforms last night while Fetter, Messenger and Gillis performed the best for Christians.

Steam Shovel Basketeers to Meet Barborton "Pros" in Local Gym Wednesday

Plenty of Action Expected When Stuver Brothers' Team from Barborton, O., Appears Here; Lineup Features Akron University Stars; Visitors Undeclared This Season

Plenty of action is expected in the Marion Steam Shovel basketball game Wednesday night when the Barborton Professionals, under the management of Stuart Brock, of Barborton, O., invade the local hall for a game with the Steam Shovel basketball team.

The Barborton team has not yet lost a game this season and has met some tough opposition both at home and abroad. Among its victims are the Akron Weldings, Rudicks All Stars, Salem Tires, and Canton Knights of Columbus.

The probable lineup for the Barborton outfit will be "Mope" Kinney, forward and captain; "Bill" Immler, forward; Burns Krohn, center; Jean Smith and Glen Kee, guards; Others on the squad are Ed Brophy, Bond, and Niehaus.

Kinney, who has starred for the Barborton for five seasons, had a try-out with Wellock Motors and received an offer a few weeks ago, but could not give up his position for the length of time that the Motors wished him to play. He is still playing with the Barborton men.

Niehaus, coming from Washington and Jefferson University, was high point man last season for the Good-year team of Akron. Immler has played forward for Stuver Brothers' team for the last three years. Jean Smith last season was star guard on the Akron University quintet. Kee has been with the Barborton crew for six seasons. Krohn is an all-Ohio center and Bond played several seasons with the Akron Firestone regulars.

Without a doubt, the visitors are equipped with one of the best lineups brought here by any team this season.

Shovels Are Ready
The Shovel team will probably go after the new set of invaders in the same manner which it has conquered other famous visitors on the Shovel floor this season. The Steam Shovels have been playing an excellent brand of basketball and have shown fans some real entertainment since the organizing of the team this season.

They have lost only two home games so far this season and those defeats were suffered early at the hands of stellar college teams. They're out for another victory Wednesday night and fans have confidence that they will continue their winning streak.

A preliminary event will be played at 7 o'clock with the regular game getting under way at 8:15 o'clock.

WORLD FAMOUS INDIANS START ON ANOTHER TOUR

New Trip Will Take LaRue Basketball Team Through Michigan

World Famous Indians' basketball team was back home Sunday for a day in LaRue before leaving for a new tour through Michigan. The Indians have just completed a very successful tour through West Virginia, winning 15 consecutive games. Since the season opened, the Indians have met only three defeats out of 24 games played.

The trip this week takes the Indians to Jackson, Port Huron, Pontiac, Flint, Detroit, and Windsor, Can. The World Famous Indian page team is not composed of the same group that played football under that name last fall. The group now traveling under the management of Chick Skelley consists of several Jaskul University stars and is capable of putting up a battle against the best of them.

HAIR-GROOM
Keeps Hair Combed, Glossy
Well-Groomed All Day

"Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which costs only a few cents a jar and drug store. Millions give that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to the hair—that real touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. Use on stubborn, unruly, shampooed hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" also helps grow thick, heavy, lustrous hair.—Ad.

MAY DISPOSE OF STOCK
New York, Feb. 1—That the New York Giants might take up the problem of disposing of Rogers Hornby's stock in the St. Louis Cardinals was indicated today as a solution to the Hornby-Breadon controversy which was said to be threatening to nullify the deal whereby Hornby came to the Giants.

Secretary Jim Tierney, of the local club, laughed at the idea that the deal might be called off.

TIGERS REPORT FEB. 28
Detroit, Feb. 1—The advance guard of the Tigers will assemble at San Antonio, Tex., Monday, Feb. 25 to begin spring training. It was announced today. The remainder of the squad is scheduled to report March 6.
